WOULD CARRY OUT PLEDGES

Washington, Feb. 10.—A conference held at the White House last night between President Taft and Senator Aldrich is only the forerunner of others in the near future, the outcome of which probably will be the issue of a statement dealing with the situation that is discussed here wherever two or three are gathered together, yet which apparently nobody thus far has deemed it prudent to make the subject of public utterance.

That situation relates to the possible consequences, financial, industrial and political, hanging upon the decisions of the supreme court of the United States in the cases of the American Tobacco company and the Standard Oil company.

The immediate subject of last night's conference between the president and Mr. Aldrich was the administration's proposed amendments to the interstate commerce law, but the effect of the supreme court decisions in the tobacco and oil cases were discussed also and will be further discussed on Monday.

Meanwhile the president will speak in New York Saturday night on the subject. It is said, "Party Pledges and How They Should Be Kept," and he is attempting no concealment or modification of his intention to make the decision of the supreme court the guide of the government's further action in regard to corporations charged with violations of the Sherman anti-trust law.

He makes it plain to all inquirers that he has in no wise changed his view of what, in his message to congress, he described as his duty to investigate the conduct of all trusts. Mr. Taft says he will not be swayed therefrom by rumors or flurries or other manifestations in Wall street.

The general impression here is that the federal incorporation bill will not be passed at this session. All the talk is unfavorable to its substantial progress and Mr. Taft recently disclaimed any intention of attempting to force its passage.

But even if it were enacted in its present form, it offers, in the opinion of members of congress and of corporation men, no material relief from the condition that hangs upon the decision in the anti-trust cases.

WPOMING RAILROAD TO BE EXTENDED TO SOUTH

Laramie, Wyo., Feb. 11.—Stockholders of the Denver, Laramie & Northwestern Railroad company, at a meeting yesterday, ratified the transfer of all property to the Denver, Laramie & Northwestern Railroad company and increase of capital stock from $5,000,000 to $30,000,000, of which $22,500,000 are to be issued in bonds for the construction of 750 miles of road. The new incorporation authorizes the extension of the line to Seattle.

LAWMAKERS DEFY COURT

Washington, Feb. 10.—Whether a court at law has power to summon before it a committee of congress was the chief subject of discussion before the senate and house today.

The senate gave positive instructions to Senator Reed Smoot, Jonathan Bourne and Duncan Fletcher not to respond tomorrow to the order issued by Justice Wright of the supreme court of the district of Columbia, directing them to appear before him.

The proceeding grew out of a suit instituted by the Valley Paper company of Holyoke, Mass., as the result of the committee's award of a contract for furnishing paper for the government printing office.

The refusal of the senate was based on the plea of the constitutional prerogatives of members of congress. The senate took the position that as it was a coordinate branch of the government the court had no right to interfere with its business. Incidentally the question was raised as to whether Justice Wright was in contempt of the senate or whether the senate was in contempt of Justice Wright.

Senator Nelson sought to have the resolution adopted by the senate so amended as to permit the senators to appear only to test the court's jurisdiction and said that if the recommendations of the judiciary committee were correct, Justice Wright might be called before the senate for contempt.

Mr. Nelson did not defend the court's jurisdiction, but said that, as the printing committee had acted under a statute and not as the ordinary instrument of congress there was ground for trouble. Senator Root took the position that the action of the court was an encroachment upon the independence of the senate. Sustaining the action of the court on the ground that a printing award was an administrative rather than a legislative act, Mr. Sutherland advised the committee to appear in court and plead their privileges.

The Nelson amendment was voted down, 14 to 45, the original committee resolution being adopted without division, and was another resolution directing the secretary of the senate to communicate the views of the senate to the court.

WEALTHY INDIAN DIES IN SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 10.—John Shiahud, an Indian who asserted he was more than 100 years old and who was almost lynched by white pioneers 30 years ago, died at Port Madison, Wash., yesterday.

The body of a white man was found in 1847 at the foot of Lake Union in what is now Seattle and the settlers ascribed his death to nearby Indians. Shiahud and another Indian, faung under suspicion, were captured by the settlers and were about to be lynched when the sheriff and a posse rescued them. Upon trial the Indians proved their innocence.

Shiahud was ever after known as Lake Union John and became prominent in the village of Seattle, whose growth made a fortune for him.

BASEBALL TEAM TO TOUR SOUTH AMERICAN CITIES

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 11.—Acting for A. G. Spalding and under his direction, Frank A. Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, now is figuring the expenses, route and date for a tour to South America, which will be taken next fall by an "All-American" team under the direct supervision of Bancroft.

At the close of next season the team is to be picked by Spalding and Bancroft, and will leave in a short time thereafter for South America. Mr. Bancroft says they will visit Buenos Ayres, Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo, Valparaiso and other capitals and important cities in that country. He says they will have enough games to keep them busy the greater part of the fall and winter.

HEAVY FLOODS PREVAILING IN THE ANTIPODES

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 11.—Heavy floods prevailed in Australia when the steamer Makura, which arrived yesterday, left the Antipodes. At Tamworth ten feet of water flooded the town. Several houses were swept away and four men were drowned. Thousands of sheep and large numbers of horses and cattle were drowned. Heavy debris was swept through the town, smashing doors and windows and ruining the stocks in the stores. When the water subsided the streets were littered with furniture and debris.

PEARY WILL DEVOTE HIS LIFE TO ARCTIC STUDY

Washington, Feb. 11.—Commander Robert E. Peary returned to Washington last night, expressing gratification that the senate has passed a bill which will promote him to the rank of rear admiral, with immediate retirement, and that the National Geographic society accepted the offer of the Peary Arctic club to conduct a joint expedition to the South Pole.

"I feel it is a great distinction to be honored by the United States senate," said Commander Peary. "If I am retired finally, I will devote the rest of my life to studying Arctic and Antarctic problems and helping the American people to achieve further success along these lines."

Speaking of the proposed South Pole expedition and the report that the steamer Roosevelt would have to undergo changes in order to provide more space for storing coal, Commander Peary said that no larger quantity of coal is necessary to travel from Cape Horn to Coast Land than was needed when he made his trip from Newfoundland to Greenland.

ENGINEER IS KILLED BY PASSING LOCOMOTIVE

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Albert Winne, of Rensselaer, engineer of the Adirondacks and Montreal Express, was killed in his cab at Little Falls, early this morning. Engineer Winne was leaning out of the window, examining a hot journal, which had attracted his attention and did not note the approach of an eastbound train. The locomotive cab of the approaching train struck him in the head, knocking him from the cab and killing him instantly.

PLEADS FOR PROTECTION OF AMERICAN WOMEN.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—William J. Calhoun, United States minister to China, appeared before the supreme court of Illinois today in an appeal to have that body overrule a decision bearing upon the ten-hour law for women. Judge Tullih last July held the law limiting the working day to ten hours unconstitutional on the ground that it infringes on women's right to contract for the hire of her labor. Minister Calhoun was one of the large number of Chicago men and women opposing the decision who appeared before the supreme court.

The minister to China told the court that he would confine his address to a single phase of the case—its humanitarian or common sense side.

"I am not radical or a socialist or an anarchist," he said, "and I don't even belong to the so-called 'uplift movement' of which we have heard so much recently. But I do take sufficient notice of some abuses which exist in this highly and artfully developed civilization of ours and which call aloud for correction."

"In the doctrine of the freedom of contract there is more of fiction than of reality. When men and women are dependent upon their daily wages, when they are face to face with poverty all the time, when the loss of a day's work and a day's wage means not enough money to pay rent, or not enough to buy food, it is not fair, it is not common sense, to say that they enjoy any freedom of contract for the sale of their labor."

"Many women in their struggles for food and shelter, yes, and for life itself, are willing even eager, to work long hours every day in every week, in the year, year in and year out, until their bodies break under the strain, but the wish of such women should not be allowed to militate against the welfare of womanhood and of mankind in general. When a woman, be she maid or mother, has worked in a factory ten long hours she has tolled the limit the laws of this country should allow."

"But should the selfish desire of a few men to sell more goods, to grind out more orders, be allowed to stifle the needed demand of maidenhood and of motherhood?"

JEWELRY AND CLOTHING OF MURDERED GIRL IDENTIFIED

San Francisco, Feb. 11.—Jewelry and clothing worn by the girl whose skeleton was found in Mount Tamalpais, Feb. 3, were identified yesterday by four men as having belonged to Anna Jensen, a domestic employed in a local boarding house, and who has not been seen since April 1, 1909. Three men, who lived at the boarding

They Grow Hair

Certain Ingredients if Properly Combined, Stimulate Human Hair Growth

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered. Betanaphthol is a most powerful, yet absolutely safe germicide and antiseptic, which prevents development of germ matter, and creates a clean, healthy condition. Pilocarpine, although not a coloring matter or dye, is an ingredient well established for its power to restore color to human hair.

Borax, because of its well-defined softening and cleansing properties, is most useful in the treatment of scalp and hair diseases. Glycerine acts as a stimulant to the hair bulbs, and has a soothing, healing and nourishing influence. Alcohol is indispensable in medicine because of its antiseptic, stimulating and preservative qualities.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of these ingredients, which are compounded in a peculiar form, and we believe it is the most effective remedy known to medical science for scalp and hair troubles generally. We personally guarantee it to eradicate dandruff and scalp irritations and to grow hair, even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair, providing of course, there is life and vitality remaining in the hair roots.

We want every one troubled with scalp disease, dandruff or loss of hair to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not remove dandruff and promote a growth of hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. This guarantee is printed on every package. We have effected most satisfactory results in 93 out of 100 cases where put to a practical test.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike and in every particular different from anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is recommended. We urge you to try it at our entire risk. Generally we could offer no better guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Sold in Ogden only at our store—The Rexall Store. The T. H. Carr Drug Co., corner Grant and Twenty-fifth.

house which was conducted by Miss Helma Carlson, and whose meals were served by the Jensen girl for several months, are positive in their identifications of the mountain victim's bracelet not only, but also are certain that the murdered woman's dress, hat, watch and hair were those of the former house servant. Further, they assert the estimated height and weight of the victim are the same as those of Miss Jensen.

One of the identifiers recalls that Miss Jensen, just before leaving the boarding house, purchased a pair of whose label was found on the dead girl's shoes.

The four men now live apart, and none were aware of the fact yesterday that the others had connected the Tamalpais mystery with the Jensen girl. An effort will be made to trace the movements of Miss Jensen after leaving the boarding house last April.

LIFE AT A POWER DAM

The business of furnishing the public with its electric light and power, from the view point of one who knows, may prove interesting to the thousands who have no opportunity to see and learn the dangers and hardships associated with the work of producing light.

"My Lady" standing at her mirror under the glow of the power-wheel light, giving the last touches to her personal charms, and the thousands sitting in the parlors of their homes, perhaps absorbed for the time in some good book, can never realize the details necessary to change a flowing stream into electrical energy for lighting the streets and homes of a big city.

In order that the reader may be shown some of the dangers and trials associated with those in charge of the several branches of this work, let us take an imaginary journey over the system, beginning at the Power Dam.

Floating ice and leaves are the enemies of the man at the dam. The intake or mouth of the big pipe is protected by iron bars fastened closely together. Logs, leaves, and broken ice seem to have a fascination to enter the mouth of the pipe, but they are caught in a trap set for them, and the man at the dam is always on watch to remove them. It may be midnight with the icy air below the zero line, and so snowy one cannot see, but the man at the dam is always there, for he knows it is up to him to prevent the ice and leaves from shutting off the water from the wheels, for in that event the city would be in darkness because the man at the dam had failed.

A daily sheet record of the rise and fall of water flowing over the spillway must be kept and reported to the Superintendent of the Power Station daily; besides constant telephone communication of weather and unusual disturbances which may be caused by storm.

The broken ice of winter, the brush and logs during the freshets of spring, and the autumn leaves that float down into some far away mountain stream, all find their way carried by currents and eddies, into the screening bars of the pipe line.

The next will be "The Life of the Pipe Walker."
